

INFANT AND SMALL CHILD CARRIER

Abstract of The Disclosure

The carrier essentially comprises a seat worn about one's waist having an upwardly extending upper section and a downwardly extending lower section which is rotated against the thigh in bearing the weight of an infant or small child placed upon the upper section and held in position only by the arm and hand of the wearer.